The President's Services Tendered to China and Japan.

WILL PROBABLY BE ACCEPTED.

Chinamen Still Offering Little or No Resistance to the Forces of the Mikado. Another Report That the Japanese Have Captured Fort Arthur.

Tokto, Japan, Nov. 12 - United States Minister Dun has communicated to the ministry the substance of an important cipher cable proposition received from Secretary Gresham at Washington It suggests that if Japan will join China in requesting the president of the United States to act as mediator in settling the war he will exercise his good offices in that capacity. A similar proposition has been sent to China. The cable was received by Minister Dun on Friday, and was presented to a special meeting of the ministry. An answer has not yet been sent.

The proposition presents a grave question to the ministry. They are urged on one hand by the popular sentiment to continue the war and crush China. On the other hand European powers are threatening to intervene. As between these conflicting influences the ministry find great difficulty in reaching a decision on the American proposition, but the prospect is that it will be accepted.

It is learned that four days ago France made a proposition to the United States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The cable from Tokio explains the exact terms on which the United States is proposing to act as peacemaker between China and Japan, and it clears up much mystery which has existed as to details. It establishes the fact that the United States has not offered herself as arbitrator, but has suggested that if both China and Japan join in requesting her services as mediator they

It is the belief here that China will readlly accept the mediation of the United State-, and that Japan will do so aftershe is assured of the indemnity China will yield. China has already gone so far as to notify this government that it will join Japan in recognizing the complete inde-pendence of Corea, which would result in the Japanese evacuation of Corea and the re-e-tablishment of the former reigning powers. China has also made known to this government that it was willing to pay a cash indemnity to Japan As to the amount of cash, it is not likely that Japan will not pt the mediation unless $100,000,000 is offered. This will about represent what Japan has actually spent on the war. She does not ask for exemplary or punitive dumages, as the term is used in law but merely the damages which will reimbarse her outly. When France pand Germany an indemnity for the France German war it represented not only what Germany had spent, but exemplary, or punishment, damages as well. Japan does not expect this but she will insist on actual damages.

CHINA MAKING NO FIGHT.

Two Towns Captured Without Resistance, The Laperor to Leave Pekin. YOKOHAMA Nov. 12 .- Advices from the armies commanded by Field Marshal Count Oyania, now operating on the Llaotung peninsula, confirm the reports of Japanese victories at Chinchiu (Kincham and Takenwan. On the morning of Tuesday last one brigade of the Japanese forces captured Chinchiu, and on the next day Tahenwan was bombarded and also captured. A British warship was at Talienwan during the bombardment. After the place was captured this warship immediately started for Chefoo, which is across the Gulf of Pechili, some eightyfive miles south of Talienwan.

A dispatch dated Talienwan, Nov. 7, from Admiral Ito, commander-in-chief of the Japanese navy, says that the squadron left Chiosansetsuto on Nov. 6, and on the morning of the 7th was near Talienwan. No firing was heard from the forts and the squadron steamed into the bay, when the Japanese flag was seen flying from the fortification, the guns of which were dismounted. An officer landed and found only some Japanese guards, who informed him that the commander of the brigade had returned to Chininu. The details of the capture of the placewere obtained and a steamer was dispatched immediately to telegraph the news of the victory

The official dispatches of Field Marshal Oyama stated that the Chinese forces at Kinchau numbered 1,000 infantry and 100 cavalry, and at Talienwan 3,0 0 in antry and 180 cavalry. The Chinese made little resistance at either place. They retreated towards Port Arthur. The Japanese lost only ten men in capturing both places. The Chinese losses were also slight.

LONDON, Nov. 12. - A dispatch from Tientsin, dated Tuesday, and coming by way of Shanghai, says that the emperor and his court are preparing to leave Pekin for Song-Janfu (Tsing-Kiang-Pu), in the the province of Kiangsu, about 125 miles northwest of Shanghai. It is stated that 70,000 Russian troops are concenerating at Vladivostock.

The correspondent of The Times at Chefoo telegraphs as follows. Taotai Kung, with several military lenders, abandoned Port Arthur on Nov. 6. This indicates an intention to surreader. There was an ample defending force both at Talienwan and Port Arthur, but there was no general direction of affairs. Chaos prevailed everywhere. A panic prevails at New Chang. Military descriers are fighting for passages on outbound steamers

HERR MOST WAS THERE, And Conservative Socialists Did Not Honor the Chicago Anarchists.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 .- Herr Most was the principal speaker at the ceremonies at Waldheim cemetery yesterday commemorative of the execution of the Haymarket anarchists. Among other things Herr Most said: "We meet at the foot of this monument to hold high the banner in whose shadow those who rest here fought, and to which they remained true till death. and in unfurling the red flag at this grave we feel bound to continue the work begun by them until it is crowned with success until victory is obtained " The exercises were of the usual charac acter. The presence of Herr Most had the effect of keeping away the more conservative of the socialistic element. In fact most of the old timers were conspicuous by their absence, and only a few, among them Fielden and Grief, were seen there Owing to an accident on the Wisconsit Central, which delayed the crowd, it was not until after 3 o'clock that speech making began. It did not, as on previous occasions, take place at the monument over the graves of the anarchists, but in a vacant plot east of the monument. The W. C. T. U. Convention.

DEATH BY ELECTROCUTION. Jovernor Flower Will Permit an Important Test to be Made.

ALBANY, Nov. 12 .- Governor Flower is willing to allow experts to make a test to ascertain whether a man killed in the electrie chair can be resu-citated. To the Associated Press representative he said: "I am perfectly willing to allow the experiment to be made, if it is in my power under the law. I think it would be a good thing to have this long standing controversy settled at once and forever.'

Ever since the adoption of the electrical execution act by the state the Westinghouse people, whose dynamos are used have declared that electricity was not the cause of death, but that death resulted from the holding of an autopsy after the body had been taken from the electrical chair. No less authority than Nicola Testa, the famous electrician, contended that he could bring tack to life a man supposed to be killed in an electrical chair. provided the attempt was made immediately after execution

Mr George Westinghouse has always asserted electrical death was a sham, and that a New York commission, headed by Elbridge T Gerry, had added the autopsy clause to the law to make it certain that the man was dead. Within the last few weeks the agitation of the subject has again become prominent, and an appeal is to be made to the governor to allow the next man committed to death as a subject to be experimented on. The attempt. if made, will undoubtedly create great excitement and interest in the scientific world. It will also arouse curiosity among laymen, because if successful it will bring to life a new man who can not be again executed, having once suffered the penalty of death. It will also prove that the state executioners have been the surgeons who have held the autopsy, rather than the state electrician.

Funeral Services Over the Dead

Alexander III.

A MONSTER FUNERAL PROCESSION.

The Body Borne in Solemn Pomp to the Cathedral of St. Michael, Where Elaborate Ceremonies Are Conducted-People Prostrate Themselves Before the Coffin.

Moscow, Nov. 12 -Since dawn yesterlay the streets of Moscow were lined with thousands upon thousands of persons awaiting the arrival of the body of Czar Alexander The leading streets and thousands of houses are covered with crepe. Even the lampposts are thus covered. Festoons of crepe cover the sidewalks. Arches, obelisks and masts have been erected and covered with elaborate and sombre designs Everywhere can be seen portraits and busts of the late czar draped with crepe.

The funeral train, with Czar Nicolas, the czarina, Princess Alix, numerous grand dukes and duchesses, the Prince and Princess of Wales, high officials and officers, arrived at 10 3) o'clock. The party were met on the platform of the railway station by the governor of Mos-cow, the high officials of the city, Grand Duke Michael, Grand Duke Sergius and his wife, the Grand Duchess Elizabeth, M. Durnova, minister of the interior, and a most brilliant assemblage of military of-

The clergy offered prayers as the coffin was lifted from the train on which it had made the long journey from Schastopol. A procession was then formed, and when all was in readiness the Prince of Oldenburg and several generals removed the pall from the coffin. Czar Nicholas and the grand dukes then bore the coffin to the hearse that was in waiting. In the meanwhile cannon was booming from the Kremlin fortress.

At 11 o'clock the procession started for the Cathedral of St. Michael the Arch-The cortege was of immense length. In it imperial standards were borne by high functionaries, each of them followed by one of the czar's horses. General officers carried the czar's armorial bearings, state swords and insignia and decorations. Then followed a long array of clergy bearing emblems and images. and deputations, corporations and trades

The funeral car was drawn by eight horses, and there was a guard of bonor composed of eighty cadets. The cords of the pull, which had been replaced, were held by generals.

Then followed on foot the czar, the Prince of Wales, the grand dukes the imperial household, etc. Behind them came the ezarina and other imperial and royal ladies in mourning coaches.

The military escort was made up of five companies from different regiments, a battery of artiflery and five squadrons of broken limbs. cavalry. The route from the railway station to the Kremlin was lined with troops. A feature of the procession was the thousands of wreaths carried by the deputations. There were so many of these wreaths that it was impossible to find room for them in the cathedral.

The streets in the vicinity of the Kremlin were black with humanity, and the crowd extended as far as the eye could reach. In the Cathedral of St. Michael there was an immease concourse of peo-

The cortege stopped at four churches on the way to the Kremlin, within the tri angular walls of which the Cathedral of St. Michael is situated. These stops were made for the offering of prayers for the dead. It was I o'clock before the procession arrived at the cathedral. Here the pall was again removed, and the coffin was borne into the church with the same ceremony that had marked its transfer at the station. It was placed upon an immense catafalque that had been erected in the nave. This catafalque was surmounted by a canopy embroidered in gold. The whole interior of the church was decorated with white and black draperies embroidered in silver.

The tombs of the czars whose remains are in the cathedral were covered with black velvet, on which the epitaphs on the tombs were reproduced. Four generals removed the lid and re placed the pall over the open coffin.

The metropolitan of Moscow conducted the funeral service, which was marked with all the solemn pomp and circumstance of the orthodox church.

Subsequently many of the imperial party with their suites proceeded to the Uspensky cathedral, the most venerated of the several sacred buildings of the Kremlin, and the Ischudoff cloisters, where the most venerated holy pictures of Russia were displayed. Thence they went to the palace. In the meantime the czarina, Princess Ahx and the grand duchesses had visited the Blagovyeschensky cathedral, also private chapel of the czars The public, on being admitted into the Cathedral of St Michael to see the body lying in state, found the coffin guarded by military deputations The most touching scenes were witnessed in the cathedral The people prostrated themselves reverently before the coffin, at the same time effering brief prayers for the repose of the soul of Alexander III

PEFFER'S PREDICTIONS.

The Populist Senator Satisfied with the Recent Elections.

SAYS THE PARTY IS GROWING.

withstanding the Recent Defeats, the Party Shows a Heavy Increase-The Total Vote Nearly Two Millions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 -Senator Peffer has arrived from Kansas. In discussing the result of the recent election he said the Populists had no reason to feel dis-couraged "What we have lost in con-gressmen," he said, "we have more than made up in votes. The reports generally published would lead people to suppose that we had suffered a material loss in all respects in Kansas. Such is not the case, In 1890 we had about 105,000 votes in that state, in 1892 about 113,000 and in the late election from 120,000 to 125,000. We failed in the election of officers because we were not paired with the Democrats, but we have every reason to feel encouraged for the future. In the country at large I feel confident that when the returns are footed up they will show our total vote to little less than 2,000,000, which is about twice the Populist yote of two years ago." Asked if he believed Governor Tillman would co-operate with the Populists if he should be elected to the senate Mr. Peffer replied that he could not say, as Governor Tillman had never outlined his intentions in that respect. He called attention to the fact that Mr. Cibby, who supposed they shared the political views of Governor Tillman, had remained in the Democratio ranks. "Still," he added, "the time must soon come when all Democrats believing selves openly with the Populist party. The eastern Democrats are to all intents and purposes Republicans, and Democrats of the Tillman Cibby stripe cannot long remain in the same party organization with them."

The senator declined to discuss the question of the probable organization of the senate after the 4th of March by the Republicans, with the aid of such Populists, like himself, had affiliated with the Ropublican party before the became Popu-

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, was less guarded than Senator Peffer in speaking of the assumption that certain of the Populist senators would aid the Republicans in the organization of the senate. He says emphatically that so far he is concerned he will enter into no coalition with either of the old parties to secure the organization. "I don't care," he said, "which of the gold parties controls the machinery of the senate. We do not care for the few paltry offices there are to be bestowed. I do not care whether they put me on any committee or what they do with me "In fact," he said, growing emphatic, "I can raise more hell when entirely free from such obligations than when bound by them." The senator says that he thinks the Populists will be able to exercise a more potent influence by keeping entirely aloof and entering into no entangling alliance with either of the old parties, and it is his opinion that this is the policy which will be pursued by the third party in the senate, and he will advise that this policy be pursued He thinks there is no doubt that when the time comes Senator Jones will be found acting in full harmony with the Populist senators, and that if Governor Tillman should be chosen to succeed Senafor Butler he will also be found in the Populist column, as will also the two senators to be chosen from North Carolina, This would give the Populists eight senators, as against forty two Republicans and thirty-eight Democrats after the 4th of March

He Had Designs on George Gould's Roll, but Put Up With Smaller Game.

"The last time I went to Europe," said an editorial friend of mine, "I went in very distinguished company. Among my fellow passengers were George Could and family, Widener, Elhins and Yerkes, the street railway mil-henaires, and I don't know how many more rich men.

"On the second day out there was the usual drift or fellows of sporting proc'avities toward the smoking room, and very soon several games were going on. A very gentlemanly person who was he ving on like myself asked me if I ever played policy. I said, 'Yes, now that then, if the stakes were small.' After a little further conversation we to and three other men, took a table and began to play a dollar line, g., ic. Some of them wanted to make the limit higher, but I was a rep, and we kept it down. We played precy much all day, and then again at night without any very big hands or any great variation in luck. Finally, however, I struck a big hand, and so did my gentlementy friend, who as indeed quite the most agreeable man at the table. We backed our hands for all they were worth, and perhaps in my case for more, for I lost. The same thing happened several times, and the result was that, small as the game was, I got up from the table (50 out of pocket. The next day we played again, but there was very little life in the game, and finally we gave it up. "The matter had almost passed out of my mind when the man who had won my money came to me one day as we were nearing the other side and said: " 'I think I ought to give that money back to you.' "'I don't see why,' said I. 'If I had won your money, I should have taken

"'Yes, but this is different.' " 'How different? I don't understand.' "Well, the fact is, I don't mind it.'

"That's just it,' he said. 'Here is
"On one not the sort of your money. You are not the sort of game I am after. I rang in a cold deck on you during a deal, and I am one of the few that can do it.'

"Then he went on to tell me after I had taken the money that he had come abroad expressly to pluck George Gould or one of the street railway magnates, but had given up the job. 'The fact is,' he said, 'rich men nowadays are not like they used to be. So soon as a man gets a big pot of money he does all his gambling in stocks or grain. Sometimes we get hold of a sucker that has come into a fortune by luck, and he is good game, but that sort is getting scarcer every day. Don't give me away until I leave the ship. Good day? "-M. P. THE PHONAUTOGRAPH.

A Remarkable Machine Invented by a California Genius.

A San Francisco man has invented a machine which will do away with typewriters, both instruments and operators, if he succeeds in perfecting his inven-

The new machine combines the phonegraph and the typewriter, and in looks bears considerable resemblance to a cash register. On the front of the machine are small electric buttons, which you press before talking into the mouthpiece projecting from the upper part. This mouthpiece is connected with a revolving cylinder, which receives impressions in a way similar to the Edison phonograph. A traveling needle regulates the position of the impressions on the cylinder according to the size of the paper they are to be reproduced on.

The filled cylinder is placed on rollers in the lower part of the machine. Above the rollers is a supply of paper for receiving the written characters.

There are several mysteries about the working of the new invention. No ink is used, the written characters being produced in a bold, round hand by chemical action. It spells entirely by sound and is unable as yet to cope with the diphthonz, the silent letter, the capital, the senucolon or figures, but it will receive the sounds of the human voice in any language except Chinese and reproduce them in plain English chirography.

This seeming fairy tale comes from the financial backer and the inventor, these two men being the only persons who have seen the wonderful machine. -Kate Field's Washington.

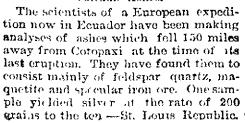

Home News From Abroad.

After enduring insult and calumny at the hands of scurrilous journalists for many years the leaders of New York society have thought it time to revolt. They have engaged coansel to frame an act establishing a "court of censorship" upon news, which they fondly hope will be made law some day. In the meantime the personalities will continne, and-what is the foolish part of it —the purchase of the papers by the reformers will continue -London Globe.

Lawyer Towns Always Mounts His Pegasus When He Tackles a Jury.

Like Mr. Silas Wegg, the intimate friend of Mr. Wenus, Lawyer Mirabeau Lamartine Towns of Brooklyn occasionally drops into poetry. In the opinion of the literary world generally, poetry does not pay, but according to Legal Laureate Towns his must has come down very handsomely with about $200. 000. This appar ent anomaly a explained by the fact that Mr. Towns never writes poetry, strictly speak ing, but doggerel of the yellow MIRABEAU L. TOWNS. dog variety. Mr. Towns, who was a member of the recent constitutional convention of New York state, tells a remarkable tale about how he came to cultivate his $200,000 muse. About ten years ago an old man named Michael Broone, a lineal descendant of the famous Brian Born, who drove the Danes from Ireland, called at his office and promised him a case if he would agree to sam it up in rhyme.

To humor the old man Mr. Towns complied with his request and summed up the case as follows:

In July last, about the time That hungry mortals like to dine, The plaintiff, being a married woman, Went forth to see her husband Rowan. The frugal meal, yet smoking warm, She had in bucket on her arm. For 'tis the plantiff's chief delight To quench her i usband's appetite. Now, the defendent, Charles Bedell, Keeps near the park—oh, sad to tell—A low resort of the and sin, Where he districted rum and gin. Yet, not content with deadly curs, He keeps two wild, ferocious puporosing those who escape his lair With dead; it is dropholin air. When plaintiff came into the park, This Charles Be dell. Just for a lark, As he says in this own define, By way of the second lair. By way of excassor protense, Seeing she was but a woman, Set his pupped on Mrs. Rowan, And as he saw her race with fright, Try mg to save herself by flight, He should, "Inil, before the goes Just play upon her vaith the hose." Mr. Strans is noted also as a philanthropist of a rather original kind. Maintaining that one of the great burdens of the poor of New York is the high prices paid in the potty retail line, he last winter opened coal depots at which the fuel was sold at cost and last sum raer sold sterilized milk at a nominal price. He is a member of the Hobrew Benefit association and various clubs and is a park commissioner.

The Sick May Receive Medical Services Free of Charge.

The President and members of the European and American Staff of German, English, Irish, Scandinavian and American Doctors of New York city will be at the Russell House, Middle-

Tuesday, Nov. 20, one day only. The sick and afficted may consult them without charge during their stay. If you are incurable they will tell you; therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methode, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free. and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month Office hours from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

BORN IN THE ARCTICS

A BRIGHT AND HEALTHY CHILD OF THE FROZEN NORTH.

Baby Peary Immortalized by Accident of Birth - Her First Night Was Four Months Long-Came South to Cut Her Teeth, Then Ho! For Greenland.

Marie Ahmigito Peary is a little lady born to fame, and she can never escape it. Like Sarah Rappalje, first white child born on Long Island; Virginia Dare, the first in Virginia; the little one born on the Mayflower and a few others immortalized by accident, the Peary baby will live in history, for she was born Sept. 12, 1893, away up in the arctic regions, and her first long night lasted four months. The doctor of the expedition was almost positive a white child could not live without sunlight and proved it somehow by science, but the baby, as babies so often do, upset the science, thrived amazingly and entered her first summer an unusually large and strong child.

Everybody has read of Lieutenant Peary's heroic wife and how she went into the arctic regions to winter with him and take charge of the station and base of supplies while he explored farther north. She is a tall and slender woman, with fair skin, dark blue eyes and an expressive head crowned with hair approaching to golden in color. She is soft spoken and gentle in manner, but brave and resolute. This lady passed the better part of a year at Bowdoin bay of Inglefield gulf, on the west coast of Greenland, in latitude 77 degrees and 40 minutes north, and it was there the baby was born, as aforesaid. At that time the weather was still quite mild and the days some 15 hours long, but they shortened rapidly, and winter came, as it does in the far north, with amazing suddenness.

For 112 days the sun never appeared above the horizon, and the temperature ranged from 20 to 40 below zero and occasionally much lower, but there was the usual supply of moonlight, and it was indescribably brilliant, for of all the beauties of nature none is more dazzlingly beautiful than the night sky of the far north. The natives winter in ice huts, but the Pearys had a good sized double house, which the lieuten ant took with him, all prepared to set up, and their oil fuel made it comfortably warm throughout. Besides nursing the baby partook freely of condensed milk and other infant food and soon developed such an appetite that she took heavier food and at 7 months ate just what the rest did. At 10 months she weighed 25 pounds.

"The Eskimo," says Mrs. Peary, "do not make particularly good servants. Bill, the little native nurse I brought, is rather more intelligent than the average and is very fond of baby, a sentiment that Marie fully reciprocates. I did not intend to bring her with me, but she begged so hard to come, and her father was so auxious to have her do so, that I consented. She is the first Eskimo from that part of Greenland to journey south, and when she returns next fall with baby and me she will be a great beroine. I didn't want to come back at all, on account of leaving my husband, but Dr. Vincent was returning, and I was afraid to stay with baby and no physician during the teething time. Of course the life there was very monotonous, but I was too busy caring for my small family to have much time to indulge homesickness. I had my pictures and books and read a great deal in the long winter evenings. "We have in Greenland a summer of nearly four months, during which the temperature is sometimes as high as 60 degrees and the vegetation is very luxuriant. The grass grows often a foot high over the old 'igloos,' or huts, and is plentifully sprinkled with bright yellow poppies, polentillas, bluebells and rhododendrous, but there are no trees worthy the name. During the mild season the skics and waters are beautifully blue, and the air is wonderfully soft and

"I dressed there outwardly exactly as I do here. Of course I had to wear very heavy underclothing, and in winter deerskin stockings, with the fur turned in, reaching above the knee, and sealskin boots. The latter were rather clumsy, but very warm and comfortable. When I went sledging, I wore a long fur coat, which enveloped mo from head to foot.

The Peary party was very well supplied with canned vegetables of many kinds, and the hunters brought in abundance of deer meet. The cooking and heating were done with oil. There was none of that trouble of keeping things which is ever on the minds of housekeepers in warmer lands, and vegetables went direct from the can and fresh meat from its frozen state into the hot water. But, for all that, life in the arctic regions is hard and nature, to proserve a numan race there, is obliged to deaden its nervous sensibilities and load it with fat. Mrs. Peary and little Marie Ahmigita will try it again, however.

Washington dispatches are to the effect that President Cleveland regards the result of the election as in no sense a reflection on himself or as indicating a lack of confidence in his administration. As well try to pierce the armored side of a battle ship with a pop-gun pellet as to hope to ruffle self-complacency like that.

"Greater New York" having been sactioned by popular vote, the Commission of Municipal Consolidation Inquiry will soon meet to agree upon details and draft a charter for the new city. It will be no easy task to fix on details of union and provide for the government of the new municipality which will have an area of 317.77 square miles and a population of over 3,000 000.

A Trenton clergyman preached, yesterday, a special sermon to bicyclists, taking for his text "Behold, he has wrought a work on his wheel." The parson, who, needless to say, is an enthusiastic wheelman, declared that the bicycle was a great civilizing influence, and called it a "gift of God." It was probably because of this supposed divine origin of the whe-I that the bicycling preacher set apart his Sunday School room as a place for storing the machines of the wheelmen who attended his service.

In the town of Walton 269 Democrats voted and of these forty-eight, or nearly one-fifth voted the Grace ballot, which contained the names of none of the candidates for local offi ces. In a close election the Grace ballot would have caused the defeat of local candidates in every county in the State. If the present election law is continued, and it is hoped that its days are numbered, for human ingenuity could devise nothing more cumbersome, confusing, unsatisfactory and costly, no better device for cutting down a party's vote for its local candidates could be hit upon than, on some pretext or other, to nominate its candidates for state office by petition.

DIPHTHERIA IN THIS CITY.

One Death -A Number of Cases All of a Mild Type.

The death of Miss Henderson at the North End, and the rumor that there were several cases of diphtheria in this city, led an Argus reporter to call, this morning, on Dr. W. I. Purdy, the City Health Officer, and make inquiry as to the exact facts in regard to diphtheria cases in this city.

Dr. Purdy said that there were a number of cases of the disease in the city, most of them on Grand and Monhagen avenue, but that they were all of a mild type and that the patients were all doing well. There has been but one death, that of Miss Henderson, above noted.

Rheumatism.

Rheumatism is caused by Uric acid in the blood, and is an unfailing indication that the Kidneys are performing their functions imperfectly. After the poison has entered the system. the symptoms are aggravated by dampness, exposure to cold, improper food drinking to excess, etc. but the cause remains the same, imperfect action of the kidneys. Dr. Humphreys has given the treatment of Rheumatism his profound attention for over forty years, his specific No. 15 is the result. It goes directly to the spot, opens the clogged passages, permitting the secretions to pass off, the cure follows quickly and surely. No. 15 cures Rheumatism, Acute and Chronic, Lumbago, Sciatica and all forms of Rheumaric pains, Soreness, Stiffness and Lameness. A small bottle of pleasant peliets; fits your vest pocket. HYMENEAL.

Baldwin-Harman.

The friends of Mr. Charles G. Baldwin and Miss Anna B. Harman were much surprised, Saturday evening, to learn that they had been united in marriage. The marriage was not entirely unexpected, but the dare of the wedding had been carefully concealed from the families of both the parties as well as their friends, except Miss Lottie A. Harman, a sister of the pride, and Samuel A. Kane.

Saturday morning Mesers. Baldwin and Kane and the Misses Harman drove away in a two seated carriage, telling their friends they were going to Monticello, and so well had they kept their secret and so carefully made their preparations for the event, that their story was accepted without the slightest suspicion.

Instead of going to Monticello, however, the party drove to Montgomery and, at 11 a. m., Mr. Baldwin and Miss Anna Harman were married at the Presbyterian parsonage by Rev. James C. Forsythe, in the presence of Mr. Kane and Miss Lottie Harman, who acted as groomsman and bridesmaid, and Mrs. Forsythe and daughter.

After the ceremony the party drove to Campbell Hall, where Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin intended taking train for New York, but they missed the train and then drove to Goshen, reaching there in time to take Erle train 6. Mr. Kane and Miss Harman then drove home and broke the news to the families of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwip. bringing with them the marriage cerrificate as positive evidence of the truth ulness of their report.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S FIRE.

A Small Carpenter Shop on Academy Avenue Burned-A Coincidence.

About 10:30 o'clock, Saturday evening, an alarm of fire was turned in from box 46, corner of Genung street and Academy avenue. The firemen promptly responded but before they reached the scene, the building is which the fire had broken out, a small carpenter shop in the rear of a new house on Academy avenue, just south of Hoffman street, had been destroyed.

The shop was owned by Spencer Thompson, a carpenter who resides at Centraville Station, Sullivan county, and had been used by him in building the house near which it stood, work on which was completed Saturday. Mr. Thompson left the city Saturday evening for his home at Centreville.

This shop which then stood on Hoff nan street was badly damaged by fire on the night of Feb. 3rd last The siding and framework were saved, however, and were removed to the Academy avenue lot and the building re roofed. It is a singular coincidence that the former fire occurred on Saturday night, after Mr. Thompson had been working in the shop, and that when it broke out he was on his way, as he was Saturday night, to his home in Sullivan county, At that time, examination of a tool chest, which was in the shop but which was not totally destroyed, revealed the fact that a number of tools had been stolen.

There was an insurance of $75 on the building, $100 on the stock and $50 on the tools.

THE PRICE OF COAL

Bealers Do Not Expect an Advance Buring the Winter

From the Binghamton Herald. Coal dealers state that they do not expect the price of coal will raise this winter. The first of November, the wholesale dealers raised the price twenty-five cents per ton and at the same time the restriction on the output was recalled. This evens up the matter, so that it will not affect the retail price, This will be good news as a great majority of the people are Railroad avenue to M. J. Nally, an not in a position to pay a higher price for coal. The matter, of course, rests entirely with the railway companies, but it is the general opinion that there will be no advance for some tiare.

The November Meteors,

The earth is now passing through the meteoric zone and if the weather is clear those who watch the sky for the next few nights will probably be rewarded by seeing many beautiful meteors. To-night, when the earth is in the center of the zone, will probably be the best night to watch for meteors. Look for them in the northeastern heavens, as they come from a point a little north of east.

THE ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

Another New Car Put on-4 New Time Schedule - The Park and Asylum Houtes to Be Operated Separately.

The last of the four new vestibuled care, No. 9, began running, yesterday, on the Asylum line. It was the intention of the company's officers to put all the new cars on the Park-Asylum line, but they are higher than any of the other cars and the trolley being of a different style from the others in use, the care cannot pass under the Sprague avenue bridges. Car No. 9 has been fitted with a Sprague trolley which will allow it to pass under the bridges, and the same style of trolley will be put on the other new cars.

Beginning, this morning, a new time schedule went into effect, by which cars will be run every ten minutes on the cross-tow line and every twenty minutes on the park line. The first cars for Genung street and the Fark leave Franklin Square at 6:20 in the morning, and an effort will be made to make close connection with every other car on the cross-town live with the Park and the Asylum coutes, so that people desiring to transfer at the Square will not have to wait in the cold. It will be neceseary for those patronizing the crosstown cars to familiarize themselves with the time of these cars to make the transfer without waiting. Connections are made at the Square at the even hour, and twenty and forty minutes after the hour.

Later on it is the intention of the company to run the Park and Asylum lines separately, the Park cars to run only to Franklin Square and the Asylum cars to the city limits at Hulse's switch. By this arrangement it is expected that more satisfactory service can be given.

FOOLSD THE POLICEMEN.

Two Jokers In a Lotty Perch Finally Out-

wit Patient Bluecoats. Two young men, supposedly in a spirit of michnet, climbed up a big polo of the Beil Telephone company on Naudian street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second, before daylight and established themselves in the "crow's nest" just below the first of the wire bearing crossbars on a recent morning. There they sat and sang songs until a passing milliman called up and asked what they were doing.

"Oh, ask of the man in the moon," warbled one, and the other said that they were hunting for the milky way. The milkman left in disgust and notified a policeman of the Fifth district that a pair of nuisances were holding forth "in a cage on a pole." The policeman summened a brother patrolman, and the two went to the place designated, where the jokers had changed their programme and remained as silent as the grave.

"Come down!" demanded the policeman, but he received no answer. "If you don't, we'll come up and bring you down." "Then we'll push dem cops away, responded the singer up the pole. The threat was too much for the bluecoats, so they replied that they would wait below until the men got tired of being up in the air and came down of their own accord. They were answered with a laugh, but sat down on the curbwith a laugh, but sat down on the curbstone and chewed tobacco. A crowd collected, and the men up above entertained it with making jokes at the expense of the patient guardians of the peace. The crowd was augmented by hundreds of people on their way to work, who stood and watched the strange spectacle stood and watched the strange spectacle until their necks got kinks in them. The entertainers meanwhile were not idle and rewarded their sightseers with a variety of funny performances in their elevated and confined quarters.

The wires and door of the box that contains the head cable came in for a good share of their attention, and they rattled and banged to their hearts' content. Finally they got tired and began to descend. The policemen grinned expectantly and the crowd was breathless with interest.

"You're coming down, are you?" shouted the policemen derisively, but the men made no response. Suddenly the lower one, when about ten feet above the roof of the adjacent house, made a spring and landed on the roof in safety. The other one followed suit before the people below could say a word. There they poked their heads over the eaves and shouted:

"Yah, hah! Did we come down?" Then they disappeared and have not been seen since. Where they went is a mystery.—Philadelphia Times.

NEEDED DIETING.

An Attenuated Horse That Excited an Officer's Unnecessary Sympathy. A South Chicago policeman came

It's a case for the S. P. C. A. Do you weigh out his food to him on an apotheemy's scales?"

"Officer, before you say any more do me a favor. Get in that buggy and drive around a block, and when you come back here tell me what to feed him. I'll do whatever you say."

The policeman got into the buggy and started off. He thought he was in a merry go round driven by cyclone power. He braced his feet against the dashboard and hung on to thereins until his wrists cracked and there was a shower of heels all over the road. The buggy slewed around corners on one wheel, and when the horse finally landed up against the hitching post with its front legs over the shafts the officer was so dazed that he couldn't speak for a min-

The German servant gul in Chicago who has married an Americanized Chinese may not regret her act, as the Culestial is usually said to make a kind husband. Girls of her class usually make marriages of this sort to secure an easy life, and as they are not sensitive, they manage to escape the moral suffering that falls to the lot of better bred woman who make a misalliance. Probably the worst victims of ill assorted marriages in the United States are the girls of good family who have married Indians. In every case such garls have endured misery and shame and have finally appealed to the divorce courts for freedom. -- San Trancisco Chronicle.

CATHERINE HARRISON, WITCH. A Paper on the Early Witch Lore of Connecticut. Dr. C. J. Hoadly read a paper on "Catherine Harrison, Witch," at a meeting of the Connecticut Historical society. Dr. Hoadly said that while Catherine Harrison was not executed two were undoubtedly executed for witcheraft in Connecticut, and there were others about whom there might be some would. This community was not swept by the superstition as were some parts of Massachusetts, but there were those here who held to it.

Catherine Harrison was a house servant before her marriage, and one of the daughters of the house where she worked made oath that she was a "notorious liar, a Sabbath breaker and a fortune teller." The depositions said she had caused sickness to some people, death to others, had an unholy influence over animals, had been seen to appear as a calf and change back to her own shape, and that her form or face had frequently appeared at people's bedsides and other unlikely places. At this trial she was not convicted. She was arrested again in May, 1669, and again committed to jail. At the following term of court she was indicted, pleaded not guilty and was tried before a jury. This jury then failed to agree, and she was remanded to jail until court should convene again in the fall. At that term the jury rendered a verdict of guilty, but the court was not satisfied. It obtained an expert opinion on witchcraft from some ministers, and still not being satisfied referred the matter to the general court. She remained in prison until May, 1670, when the general court released her on the payment of the "just fees" of the trial and on condition she should leave the state. Catherine Harrison left the state and went to Westchester, N. Y., but her reputation preceding her the inhabitants complained to the governor. For some time she was placed under bonds for good behavior. She was afterward released.—Hartford Times.

An Eccentric Character.

It was at hight, when the lower part of Broadway was as silent as a village street. A lone cab was crawling along, its driver comfortably hunched forward smoking a cigar. Suddenly there was a crash, the sharp rattle of broken glass on the pavement, and a leg protruck d through one of the cab windows. The few pedestrians and one policeman who heard and saw were startled, and the observing Samman had dismal torchodings of having to go back to the office and write a story about a mystery or possibly the tragedy of a Broadway cab.

But the driver remained comfortably hunched, did not miss a puff of his cigar, and the horse jogged on until the policeman motioned to the driver to stop. "What's all this?" he asked.

"It's all night," answered the driver. "But let's have a look," said the offi-

He pecred into the cab, which contained but one person, a man, who, observing the officer, remarked in anything but tragic, in fact, in the friendliest of tones: "'F'ser, le's all have 'nozzer."

"Drive on," said the policeman and added. 'But I don't want any more of this cab window smashing on Broadway. '' "He can't smash any more," the driver said, gathering up his reins. "He smashed the left door glass at Duane, the front glass at Howard and the right door glass here at Grand. He's all right. He does this about once a month."

"G'ni', 'f'ser,' said the fare. "Good night, sir," replied the officer.-New York Sun.

Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solucitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a lather's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling periodly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I dult to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I a orgger man in the world. I have studied now to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzted. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have a proposal and at the average the at the average that the company to the average that at the average the at the average that the company to the average that at the average that at the average that the company to the average that at the average that at the average that the average that at the average that the average that the average that at the average that at the average that at the average that the ave of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which or those who have succeeded at the present lime and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much valno, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel coundent, though that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own Life at least as far removed from fail-are as justified by the natural ability he may possess.

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find no emitted the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find no emitted. I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life-the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy ank secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know the series will end. nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Mon and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch know something of the seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies a e shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work. --

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume. ume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do. you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

TOO HASTY. He Thought It Was Her Baby, but He Erred.

A man got on a Michigan Central train just as a woman was getting off. The rebult was a collision and bad blood on both sides.

* Look where you're poing, stupid?'
snapped the woman. "You ought to go out with a guardian?"

"Oh, you think you're smart?" reforted the run, and then the train pulled out, leaving the man on the steps of his car glaring after the woman, who was burrying oif in the distance.
"Looks mighty suspicious," he said to

himadf

He went into the day car and found only one seat not fully occupied, and that had an infant a-to-p in it

The man looked at the sleeping child and then gazed around the car with the look of one who was searching for some one he did not find. Then he darted to the door, seized a brakemen, and dragged han into the car and to the seat occupied by the sleeping infant.

"Where is the mother of that child?" he demanded in a suppressed voice.
"I'm sure I don't know," said the brakeman. "She doesn't seem to be here."
"I know," pursued the new passenger.
"She are off the tenin when I come "She got off the train when I came on. she has deserted her child-that's what she's done."

Looks like it," said the brakeman. "I'll call the conductor." And he did. The conductor knew just what to do. He had seen such cases before, and he left the baby at the first station they stopped at, with orders to forward it to Detroit, to the police, with a description of the absconding mother.

Tuen the man who wanted a seat got one and glosted over the fact that he had outwitted a termagant of a woman.

After awbile a woman who had slept long and soundly in a seat at the farther end of the car arose and looked about her as if listening for something. Then she walked to the scat occupied by the new passenger.

"Where's my baby?" There was a deathless silence. Then a voice that grew ten feet higher with every word it uttered repeated the query, "What have you done with my baby?" It took the conductor, the brakeman and the rest of the passengers to hold the woman while the man tried to explain the facts in the case, and after he had settled the item of telegraphing, costs of trans pertation for the baby, damages to the mother's feelings and other expenses he was permitted to go on his way unmolested. And he never again will try to get even with a woman.—Detroit Free Press

Jumping Pills.

A Germantown bachelor of convivial habits, missing his last train, spent the night with a friend in town and met with a harrowing experience. When they awoke in the morning, the Germantown man, to use his own expression, felt like a fur salesman who had swallowed his samples. He was still a true under the influence of the ro-y, and his nerves were not in the best possible condition. On the dressing case was an open pillbox containing two pellets. He was about to ask his friend what kind of pills they were when one of them gave a little squirm and turned completely over. The Germantown man rubbed his eyes and stared in amazement. Then the other pill slowly began rolling about the box, and his eyes threat ened to bulge out of their sockets. The two pills next began hopping up and down, as though trying to escape from the box. Thoroughly frightened, the Germantowner gave a yell, and, jumping into bed, pulled the clothes over his head. "Take 'em away." he groaned. "Take what away?" asked his very much surprised friend.

"Those pills in that box. Have I got 'em, or are they really jumping about's'

Vain Attempt to save the Leg of a Boy lejured at Mountain Bale in August | The Hallucination of a Central Valley

An interesting surgical operation was performed at Thrall Hospital, Saturday afternoon, upon George Newham, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. Nicholas Newham, of Brooklyn, who was injured at Mountain Dale on the day of the Conductors' clam bake, in August last. The boy had his right leg broken in two places, when in attempting to alight from a wagon his foot caught in the revolving wheel. The boy was brought to Thrall Hospital and an effort was made to save the leg. Apparently the bones grew together, but the wounds never healed and a consultation of physicians was had and it was decided that amputation would be necessary to save the lad's life. The operation was performed by Dr. Mills. assisted by Drs. Pillsbury, Hulett and Faucher. The leg was taken off half way between the knee and hip.

The boy stood the operation well and is reported, to-day, as doing well.

BOUND TO PROVE HE WASN'T DRUNK A Prohibitionist Appealed to as an Expert on Drunks. A well known Prohibionist of this city was greatly surprised, one night last week, when a neighbor appeared at his house in a maudlin condition, scarcely able to stand, and said: "I aint drunk. I want you to see I aint drunk." The inebriated individual was got rid of as quickly as possible and later it came out that when the aforesaid wife had indignantly reproached him Bishop Potter, asking him to sign for getting drunk. He asserted and re-asserted that he was perfectly sober, but without being able to convince his wife that he had not looked on beer that foameth, or whiskey that burneth and, determined to con vince his doubting spouse, had gone to his prohibition neighbor, whom he seems to have regarded as an expert a corunks, in the hope of obtaining from him a certificate of sobriety.

A WEDDING WITHOUT GROOM OR MINISTER.

An examination as to the mental condition of Elia Dunshee, a maiden lady, now an inmate of the Falkirk sanitarium at Central Valley, was held in Newburgh, Saturday.

Among the evidence given was that of Dr. Ferguson, of the sanitarium, who said that in September Miss Dunshee notified him that she was about to become a bride and desired the use of the parlor.

Dr. Ferguson tried to turn her thoughts in another direction and insisted that she await the arrival of he groom and the clergyman, but she inelated that their presence was not requisite, as the groom, a prominent New York divine, had secured Bishop Potter's consent.

Soon afterwards she appeared in the parlor arrayed in a costly white satin gown, richly trimmed; she wore a bridal veil fastened back with jeweled pins, and white kid gloves. She looked the picture of a well to do ceal it from the attendants. After standing silently near the mantel for a few minutes, she said to Dr. Ferguson: "It doesn't matter now what happens, I am married," and returning to her room she took off her wedding finery. Miss Dunshes frequently writes telegrams to the clergyman, whose name is withheld, signing her name Ella, with that of the minister to whom she really believes she is mar-Inebriated individual came home, his ried. The woman has considerable property, and declared her intention of disposing of it and building a stone rectory for her husband with the proceeds, and actually commenced to carry out her plans, and it was this that moved her friends to ask for the appointment of a commission to examine into her mental condition.
